

REX-WEST INTERIM FIRM TRANSPORTATION SERVICE - UPDATE

Rockies Express recently announced that it anticipates interim firm transportation service may be available on or about December 15, 2007. Rockies Express hereby clarifies that in order for interim service to be available on December 15; significant work needs to yet be accomplished to provide such service. While service to the listed delivery points may be available on this date, shippers are advised that structuring business transactions for the month of December effective on December 15 is subject to this significant work being accomplished by December 15, and therefore these transactions are subject to significant risk of non-performance. As work progresses and the facilities which will provide for interim service are completed, Rockies Express will provide more definitive guidance as to a firm date for initiating interim firm service. Please contact your REX Scheduling Representative or Account Director if you have any questions.
